

ABSTRACT

DETECTION OF SOUND WAVES PRODUCED BY A MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

Musical instrument sound detection is achieved using a fibre optic acoustic sensor that is sensitive to sound generated by a musical instrument. Sound waves falling on the acoustic sensor cause at least one property of electromagnetic radiation transmitted through the fibre optic to vary. This variation is indicative of the sound generated by the musical instrument and can be detected by an electromagnetic radiation detector.